ISH New Investigators Symposium

Sydney Convention & Exhibition Centre,
Sydney, Australia
29th September 2012

The ISH New Investigators Symposium is a full-day research symposium to be held in conjunction with the Hypertension Sydney 2012 meeting (24th Scientific Meeting of the ISH). The symposium will be organised and carried out exclusively by students, post-doctoral fellows and early career scientists and is sponsored by the ISH in conjunction with the Asian Pacific Society of Hypertension (APSH) and the High Blood Pressure Research Council of Australia (HBPRCA). The symposium is an opportunity for New Investigators (from research higher degree students to 10-years postdoctoral) to present and discuss their work, make new friends, build research networks and establish collaborations that can last a lifetime. There will be awards to help younger researchers to attend.

All hypertension research trainees & New Investigators are encouraged to join and contribute.
